

mtnbk1's 1966 XLCH restoration

This is a special bike which ruled the roads during its time.

The Harley XLCH was the beast of the times and the 1966 model was perhaps the best for the few years Harley produced this model, beginning in 1957. The engine was rebuilt approximately 15 years ago by a local well know classic restorer and the paint is new, as are the gages, thus the low mileage. The mileage 25 miles from the time of restoration. The magneto is fully operational and before draining the bike of fluids for display in my office, it was a strong runner and a real head turner painted candy apple red and all original equipment. This bike has never been chopped or pieced together with non original parts.
